

GAS, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" settles sour, gassy stomachs in five minutes—Time It!

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable, you mustn't injure it. Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmless-ness; its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any dealer and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.—Adv.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Beautify Your Hair! Make It Soft, Fluffy and Luxuriant—Try the Moist Cloth.

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable luster, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any store and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all. Adv.

MOTHER! LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs"

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not let the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation, poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness. Beware of counterfeit fig syrups.

Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Adv.

MELISSA CAN STAND ON HER OWN RIGHTS.

Mrs. Merriwid sighed profoundly as she examined the slip of paper that had come to her in the morning mail. "Eight dollars and twenty-two cents!" she exclaimed. "and I know it oughtn't to be more than half that. Isn't it awful the way a poor lone woman is imposed upon?"

"What is it, my dear?" inquired her maternal maiden Aunt Jane.

"Gas bill," replied her niece. "There's no use talking, Mr. Rorer is perfectly right. I need a husband to protect me and I think it will have to be a large red-faced man, with a deep bass voice and a fiery eye—a man who won't stand for any rascally, rank robbery, by Jupiter—not from any swollen, insolent, grasping, conscienceless corporation nor anyone else."

Mrs. Merriwid spote the breakfast table with her clenched fist with such energy that she upset the cream pitcher, to her aunt's dismay.

"Why, Melissa!" she remonstrated.

"You see I know how it's done, but I haven't the physique," said Mrs. Merriwid. "Just because of that—because I'm a helpless, unmistakable female who can't bellow or use forcible language, I've got to pay that company four or five dollars that they aren't in the least entitled to. What do you think of Mr. Rorer, dearie?"

"I hardly know what to say," replied Aunt Jane. "He seems to have a great deal of force of character."

"All of that," agreed Mrs. Merriwid. "If I took the contract of removing his briars from my path and throwing it with roses, you'd see a decrease in the reason why. They can't monkey with me, any one of them; no, ma'am; and they know it. If they don't, they'll mighty soon find it out. They'll work up if they think they can, every time, just as they are working you now, but I give them to understand right at the start that I'm dead onto 'em, and there's nothing doing. I tell 'em what I think of 'em and I don't go round about the bush to do it, either. I don't let anybody walk on me for exercise. When I give a man a dollar for fifty cents' worth of goods I want the worth of fifty cents and fifty cents back in change. Not for twenty-nine cents, you understand. I want what's coming to me without any deduction or discount, and I generally get it."

"I told him he was lucky, but if he really got what was coming to him, I would be inclined to consider him as an object of pity."

"Not lucky, ma'am," he disclaimed. "I'm what you might call persistent and I make a point of asking for what I want loud enough for people to hear me without an ear trumpet. I don't stammer and say it's of no particular consequence if it isn't quite convenient. I don't care a whoop if it's convenient or not if I think it's something I'm entitled to. If I order a porterhouse steak rare and the waiter brings it well done, he takes it back in a hurry and brings me what I ordered. If he tries to argue the matter, I call the proprietor and I make it quite plain that I don't like the service. Now, that assessment of yours was excessive. Not the slightest doubt about it, and the board of equalization ought to reduce it, but it won't as long as nobody puts the amount of the gas bills or there would be another monopoly busted. The baker wouldn't send us any more short-weight loaves and the butcher wouldn't give us lamb chops like these. Furthermore, I'd get three per cent. more out of my investments. All I'd have to do would be to stand behind him with a little cotton in my ears and let him do the talking."

"I do really think that you have a great deal of responsibility," said Aunt Jane.

"Haven't I? Well, I certainly have. Here's the entire care of the household on my mind, including Hilda—I have to tell that girl everything and then see that she does it—and any business matters that come up I have to decide for myself. It simply takes up hours of my time. I have to settle on what I want for breakfast and dinner and supper all by myself instead of merely asking the real head of the house what he would like and saving myself all the bother, and I have to listen to all the book agents and life insurance agents and peddlers and beggars and keep the accounts and write the checks, and I declare I hardly get ten hours of sleep out of the twenty-four. Anybody can trample on me. I was telling Mr. Rorer some of my troubles."

"What did he say?" asked Aunt Jane.

"Quite a great deal," Mrs. Merriwid answered. "He got red in the face and said it was scandalous. Then he deepened to crimson and said it was outrageous. Finally he turned to purple and declared that it was atrocious and that he wouldn't put up with it for the smallest fraction of a second."

"I stand on my rights, Mrs. Merriwid," says he. "I know what they are and I'm going to have them or know them. Chances Better Now. Edith—Have you given Jack his final answer yet?"

Ethel—Not yet—but I've given him my final "No."—Boston Transcript.

SKIN TROUBLE ITCHED BADLY

Glenns P. O., Va.—"My baby's trouble began with an itching and then a little bump would come and she could not rest day or night. The trouble affected her whole body. The bumps festered and came to a head and the corruption looked like thick matter, kind of a yellow color. The sores itched so badly until it seemed to me she would scratch herself to pieces and then a sore would form and her clothes would stick to her body and pull off the little scab. In some places she would scratch and irritate the sores until they seemed to be large. She was affected about a year."

"I wrote for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I bathed her body in warm water and Cuticura Soap and then I applied the Cuticura Ointment, and they afforded relief after twice using. I bought some more Cuticura Soap and Ointment and inside of two weeks she was cured." (Signed) Mrs. J. R. Greggs, Nov. 21, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.
